Lu Lacka Wyco Hundo is a 103 mile bicycle ride in North Eastern Pennsylvania. The route traverses portions of Luzerne, Lackawanna, and Wyoming Counties in the Endless Mountains Region of Pennsylvania.

This annual spring event is headed into the seventh year of challenging an international field of riders to pit their early season fitness versus the varied and undulating terrain of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Riders have said that they choose to ride the Lu Lacka Wyco Hundo because of the challenging route, the spectacular views, and the laid back feeling of exploring the less traveled roads with like minded athletes.

The Lu Lacka Wyco Hundo is a regional forerunner in the rapidly expanding “Gravel Grinder” type of ride that has taken the bike industry by storm.

The Lu Lacka Wyco Hundo has experienced dramatic growth in it’s fifth year. The first year (2013) had 18 brave souls. The second year (2014) had 155 registered riders. In 2015 we had over 250 riders. We have sold out the event in under a day in 2016, 17, and 18.

We limit the number of riders to to keep the event small so that everyone can enjoy the roads as quiet as they should be experienced. We also want to ensure the “down home” roots of this ride is extended to all of our riders.

In 2013, Lu Lacka Wyco was the new kid on the block. We had no money or prizes for the brave souls that tried our event. We went to our friends for support and we even found some new friends who were willing to pitch in. The Lu Lacka Wyco seeks to add additional sponsors to the list of satisfied partners we have already built. If you would like to partner with the Lu Lacka Wyco Hundo and have your brand shared with thousands people each week, please reach out to event director Pat Engleman llwh100@gmail.com or (267) 603-3015
